Background on Codification and titles for topics referred to in the guide
The FASB released its ASC (also referred to as the Codification) on July 1, 2009, at which point it became the single source of authoritative GAAP in the U.S., including guidance issued by the SEC and the GAOB. The Codification includes much of the SEC's accounting guidance (e.g., SABs); however, it is not considered the authoritative source for that guidance.

FASB ASC reference	Title
Topic 230	Statement of Cash Flows
Topic 250	Accounting Changes and Error Corrections
Topic 280	Segment Reporting
